JUNIOR ACHIEVEMENT

THROUGH ITS PARTNERSHIP with Junior Achievement, Delta donates its time and resources to 31 JA chapters in the United States, Latin America, Europe, South America, Africa and the Caribbean. JA—celebrating its 100th anniversary this year—is the nation's largest organization dedicated to giving young people the knowledge and skills they need for economic and academic success and planning for their futures. Delta volunteers offer job shadows and work with students through simulated real-world exercises.

During a visit last year with Sir Richard Branson at Junior Achievement of Georgia, Delta CEO Ed Bastian made a surprise announcement. Delta was contributing $2 million to go toward 3DE by Junior Achievement. The donation, distributed in five $400,000 annual installments starting in 2019, makes Delta a National Signature Partner of 3DE.

"JA is making a huge difference in education, and we applaud you for the impact you are making and want to be one of those national partners that support the work you will be providing through 3DE and the many programs you offer the students of America," Bastian said during the event.

Delta also expanded its partnership with JA in 2017 by partnering with Young Enterprise—JA's United Kingdom nonprofit—to host its first job shadow in the U.K. Delta continues to sponsor job shadows at London Heathrow Airport, allowing students to go behind the scenes of airport operations.
